It all started from the Internally Displaced Persons Camp at Durumi Abuja in the year 2014. I was 6years old. I started following my mum on her charity visits to the camp. She will be with the women , while I developed special likeness for the children.

My name is Abigail I am five years old I am in Chibok girls have been kidnapped so I want the Chibok girls to come back Parents don't worry

In 2015, I became very interested in the missing Chibok girls, I was heartbroken by their story so I volunteered to be an advocate for their release through the bring back our girls campaign . I also wrote a letter to the minister for Education to join in the campaign to help the Chibok girls return so as to secure their future. This officially began my foundation activities.

In 2015, With the help of my brother President Ageba, we were able to start saving and then gathered our little savings together (N5,437) for the internally displaced Children in Kabusa IDP camp. To our greatest surprise, the daughter of President Muhammed Buhari – Ms. Zahra Buhari tweeted on it. For us, we just needed to start from somewhere, while we constantly pondered and devised other means of raising money for them. We were determined .

On the 3rd of August 2016, me and my brother – President Ageba were able to raise a total sum of $3,690.50 for the internally displaced children in Nigeria and we presented our donation to the then Executive Director of UNICEF – MR. Tony Lake (Grand Pa UNICEF as we fondly call him).

Dear Shise,

Thanks for writing to me. It's really great that you and your brother are donating your $77 savings to support the IDP camp in Bama. The world needs more kids like you who generously take action to make the world safer and healthier.

Here at the Gates Foundation, your letter inspired us to support these families too. We are setting up a crowdfunding website at the US Fund for UNICEF, so foundation employees can give to this IDP camp in Bama. That's the cool thing about taking action: when one person takes action, others follow.

While there are challenging and sometimes scary things happening today, there is also so much good happening. You and your brother are proof of that. I encourage you both to keep up the great work, because you are making a real difference in our world.

Sincerely,

Bill Gates

To our greatest surprise , behold on the 23rd of September, 2016 Mr. Bill Gates responded to our appeal and a crowd funding account was set up for Internally Displaced Children through The United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF)

In November 2016, I was honored with a recognition award by the National Orientation Agency in conjunction with Love to the World Initiative for my contribution to the IDP'S

On the 15th of May, 2019 we began our journey to adopting disadvantaged and less privileged children back to school. The story began when we accosted a little child hawking banana and misplaced the money of what he sold that day. Out of compassion we realized the little boy couldn't go to school because he lacked the basic essential materials to go to school and he was yet to pay his PTA levy of just 1,000 a term. This drove us to adopting 40 children from a slum community in Apo Dutse, Abuja back to school. It also gave birth to our pilot project called – PROJECT 1000.

In June 2019, I and my brother – president Ageba were invited as guest speakers for the “Generation X Unlimited” organized by the UNICEF we lent our passionate voices to the quest of mobilizing Nigerian youths for increased access to safe and quality education for all especially the girl child.

The resultant impact was a meeting with Nigeria’s Minister of education where we also had the platform to address him.

was also invited as a guest speaker on the 2019 “International Day of the Girl Child” by the Nigerian Television Authority (NTA) on their widest watched news bulletin – The Network news at 9.

During the interview, i stressed the importance of the girl child education, why it is the set time to grant the girl child equal access to education and to the benefits of not relegating girls to the background as weaker sex.

Today My brother and I are proud to be the CEO's of 'SHISE AND AGEBA CHILDREN'S FOUNDATION'. We are implementing a project called "PROJECT 1000" our aim is to adopt 1,000 less privileged children back to school. Currently we have 100 less privileged children under our scholarship and we are working tirelessly to meet our targets and with our ever burning determination and passion we know we will exceed it thereby securing the future of children both in Nigeria and all over the world.

On October 1st 2019 I celebrated my 10th year birthday with 2 selected Orphanages in great need at a slum community at Apo Dutse.

The orphanages were Osaze We Care orphanage Home and Charity , Faith and Hope Orphanage.

We donated food items and educational relief materials. We were able to raise money for this through a crowd funding.

The children have been incorporated into our programs

On the 24th of January, 2020 I was nominated to be a guest speaker at the 2020 international Day of Education in Nigeria by the Federal Ministry of Education in Conjunction with UNESCO AND UNICEF. After a powerful speech I was recognized the special adviser to the president on Education and the Regional Director of UNESCO. Education for me continues to be not only a powerful tool to break the cycle of poverty in Nigeria, it can also serve as a tool to place a halt to corruption to a reasonable extent.

PROFILE OF SHISE AND AGEBA'S CHILDRENS FOUNDATION

Shise and Ageba's Children's Foundation is a Non – governmental organization incorporated in 2019 but had been existence since 2014. The foundation is targeted at advocating for the rights of less privileged children in Nigeria with special focus on Education, health and relief. Shise (10 years old) and her brother Ageba (8 years old) are the CEO's of this foundation.

The vision started in 2014 from the Internally Displaced Persons Camp Durumi, Abuja. . Shise then was 6 years old while Ageba was 4 years old. The children would accompany their mum for humanitarian activities. While their mum focused on the women, the children would usually be with the children. Gradually they developed special likeness for the internally displaced children, gathered their savings to help them and started devising other means to raise monies for them. Their determination drove them in writing an appeal letter to Mr. Bill Gates who was moved by their letter and responded by setting up a crowd funding account through UNICEF for internally displaced children in Nigeria.

In 2015, Shise was heartbroken by the story of the missing Chibok girls this moved her to volunteer to be an advocate for their release through the 'bring back our girls campaign'. She wrote a letter to then minister for Education to join in the campaign to help the Chibok girls return so as to secure their future.

◀ In 2016, Shise was honored with a recognition award from the National Orientation Agency in conjunction with Love to the World Initiative for her contributions to the IDP's.

WHAT WE DO

1. EDUCATION

We are inspired by the belief that Education is the best component to break the cycle of poverty in any society. No doubts, the success of delivering elementary education hinges on a child being equipped with basic tools for learning.

Based on the convention on the rights of a child every child should have equal rights to good and quality education. irrespective of tribe, color, race and economic status .

Sadly, it is quite disheartening to sight children - especially the girl child relegated to the home front as the weaker sex; children hawking on the streets during school hours and children going to school without basic learning materials such as books, school shoes, torn uniforms and school fees.

We are passionate about sponsoring children back to school and providing essential educational relief materials for - especially the girl child, disadvantaged children from less privileged backgrounds and internally displaced children due to natural disasters and insurgencies. Through education, we aim to give children hope in their future just like we have hope in ours thereby erasing the feeling of “thrown away kids”

2. HEALTH

The health of children play an important role in nurturing them for early childhood development. According to the World Health Organization, enabling young children to achieve their full developmental potentials is a fundamental human rights and an essential requisite for sustainable development.

Unfortunately, Children, particularly poor and minority children, are not faring as well as the public might think. Even more distressing are the marked disparities between children in poorer families and wealthier families. The current and future prospects of these children, and the prospects of the nation as a whole, are reduced as a result.

Our foundation is committed to the health of disadvantaged children with special focus on the following key areas:

WATER SANITATION AND HYGIENE (WASH)

Safe Water, good Sanitation and Hygiene are important components for children to have the best start in life. The absence of soap, water and toilets in schools poses a massive great risk on children and greatly increases the out of school factor for girls.

Our Foundation is very committed in raising awareness and providing financial support for advocacy for WASH in rural community schools and internally displaced persons camps.

MEDICAL OUTREACHES

creating awareness, educating communities and providing critical information platforms to minimize risks and protect vulnerable children from infectious diseases, epidemics and outbreaks through community outreach programs.

DIALOGUE ON THE CONVENTION ON THE RIGHTS OF THE CHILD

Thirty years ago, the United Nations General Assembly adopted the Convention on the Rights of the Child. These developments and more brought momentous and lasting evolution, as well as a sense of renewal and hope for children all over the world. In a reflection of that hopeful spirit, the Convention has since become the most widely ratified human rights treaty in history.

Shise and Ageba's Children's Foundation is committed to generate dialogue on the critical work that remains – especially for children who have been left behind. This dialogue borders on issues relating to

- Child survival
- Immunization
- Climate
- Education
- Child Marriage
- Urbanization as it affects children.

The dialogue will be on the following platforms – online, schools, symposiums .

On the 23rd of May, 2019, the foundation was officially incorporated and registered as a corporate body into the corporate affairs commission of the Federal Republic of Nigeria.
